Juniko Lakes (Aoike Pond)

十二湖 (青池)

Juniko Lakes (Twelve Lakes) is the general name for a group of 33 lakes and marshes produced by a major earthquake in the Edo period. It was named "Juniko" because when you look out over the area from Mount Kuzure, 12 lakes can be seen. The mystical scenery of the area encompasses Aoike (blue pond), which looks as if blue ink has been poured into it, and the magnificent Nihon Canyon.

这是对江户时代的大地震诞生出的33个湖沼群的总称。从可眺望十二湖的崩山可看到12个湖沼, 因此被命名为“十二湖”。宛如流淌着蓝色墨汁一般的“青池”、雄伟的日本峡谷等, 神秘的景观铺展开来。

[Aomori Prefecture/Aomori] Aomori Nebuta Festival

Tohoku
Three great festivals

<National Important Intangible Folk Cultural Property>

青森ねぶた祭

With crowds of spectators numbering around 2.8 million, the Nebuta Festival is one of the main fire festivals in Japan. It features about 20 giant floats weighing around 4 tons each, and they are accompanied through the city streets by boisterous festival dancers called "haneto". On the festival eve, all the gathered floats in "Nebuta Rasse Land" are illuminated. On the final day of the festival, the floats take to the sea and at night the summer sky is brilliantly lit up with 11,000 fireworks.

这是一个日本代表性的节日祭典,有约280万名游客到访,热闹非凡。约20个重达约4吨的大型睡魔灯笼,与翩翩狂舞的舞者一起在大街上游行。前夜祭全部睡魔灯笼点亮火,在睡魔灯笼Rassel Land汇聚一堂。在最后一天的海上游行中,1万1千发的烟火将夏季的夜空装点得绚丽多彩。

Tanabu prospered as a hub for water transport and its festival is said to have been handed down for 380 years. The form of the floats and the music that accompanies them have been influenced by the Gion Festival through merchants that used to travel to the city from Omi (in present-day Shiga Prefecture), and it is known as the "Elegance of the North".
